

KEY CHARACTERS

Guy the Gas Station Attendant

- Font: Comic Sans MS
- Example of Dialogue: "I can't afford to have any life-altering diseases right now-- I work minimum wage, I can barely afford a 10 piece McNugget!"
- Why:
 - "Everyone has low expectations when it comes to _____. I've been impressed by less." Whether it's the words Guy or Comic Sans put into the blank, this sentence works.
 - Basic. Ordinary. Boring.
 - Looking at either one makes you go, "Wow, is that it?"

The Parasite

- Font: Bitter
- Example of Dialogue:
 - "This bucket list of yours can't be that harrowing of a task. Let me see it!"
 - "RUN! There after us!"
- Why:
 - Thin and sharp. English majors probably encounter this font often
 - Compared to Comic Sans, this font seems more important, more educated. It's got things to do, people to talk to, businesses to capitalize on, etc.
 - The name of the font honestly speaks for itself

SECRET AGENTS

- Font: STAATLICHES

- EXAMPLE OF DIALOGUE: "STOP RIGHT THERE, WERE AGENTS OF PRL, AND YOUR UNDER ARREST FOR SUSPENSION TO BE A POSSIBLE ALIEN PARASITE HOST." (PRL = PARASITE RESEARCH LAB)
- WHY:
 - LOWERCASE LETTERS DO NOT EXIST WITH THIS FONT. THE AGENTS CAN RELATE TO THIS.
 - COMPARED TO OTHER FONTS, THIS ONE IS BOLD AND SLIGHTLY IMPOSING. SEEMS LIKE THE TYPE OF FONT TO BE ON AN OFFICIAL GOVERNMENT DOCUMENT.

NPCS

Stereotypical Cheerleader

- Font: comfortaa (normal)
- Example of Dialogue:
 - "What? No ill be there soon." (on cellphone)
 - "Thank you, you have a nice day as well."
- Why:
 - A bubbly sort of font. Not a whole lot of sharp edges with this one

ELECTRIC SCOOTER GRANDMA

- FONT: AMATIC SC (BOLDED)
- EXAMPLE OF DIALOGUE:
 - "THANK YOU YOUNGE MAN."
 - " ILL BE ON MY WAY NOW. "
- WHY:
 - LOOKS INNOCENT
 - SHAKY AND FRAIL
 - TYPICAL KIND AND SERIOUS GRANDMA

Trucker guy

- Font: Raleway (semi bold)
- Example of Dialogue:
 - "Hey man, hows it going?"
 - "Have a good day now."
- Why:

- Looks serious and tough/sterdy
- Tucker is patient but also serious about his schedule
- Looks roughish, just like how his days usually are